

Radiologic Technology

This program is entirely in person (no online component). It satisfies Ohio's educational and licensure requirements for radiologic technologists. Because it is not a distance education program, NC-SARA distance authorization is not applicable. Students interested in working outside Ohio should check with the radiologic technologist licensing or regulatory board in that state to ensure their education and clinical hours meet that state's standard. Lakeland Community College seeks to maintain accurate disclosures but does not guarantee licensure or certification in every state.
