

Bachelor of Science in Accounting and Forensic Accounting (double-major)

FRANKLIN
UNIVERSITY

ON CAMPUS

FRANKLIN UNIVERSITY

Build on your credits from Lakeland Community College and earn your B.S. in Accounting and Forensic Accounting from Franklin University. This partnership program maximizes the credits you've already earned. Lakeland graduates can earn the bachelor's degree by taking third-year courses at Lakeland and the remaining Franklin courses at the Holden University Center. In this unique double major, you will learn a variety of important skills, including how to streamline information systems, compute efficiency gains, and develop tax strategies. Specialized knowledge in Forensic Accounting will enable you to promote a fraud-prevention culture in your organization, and develop a foundation of knowledge for professional certification.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS:

Applicants must meet the requirements for admission to Franklin University. As a non-profit, student-centered institution dedicated to removing barriers to higher education, Franklin has an open admission policy for its undergraduate programs. Students are admitted to the University on a continuous basis over the course of the year.
