Send your child to college for the summer!

The College for Kids program, now in its 33rd year, offers kids an exciting, fun-filled and educational summer.

Hands-on learning and exploration activities are being planned for:

- art
 - math
 - music
 - science
 - creative writing
 - American Sign Language
 - lenders and leaders
 - physical education
- Instructors are certified teachers or experts in their field and camps are operated in a supervised environment with one staff member to 15 children.
 - The College for Kids Summer Day Camp fee includes before and after-care, lunch, two daily snacks, field trips and all supplies.

In addition to the unique requirements for specific camps, all camp participants are expected to engage in group and independent hands-on/active learning opportunities in a manner that demonstrates their willingness and ability to follow directions, behave appropriately, share and respect others, and explore new ideas. A parent or guardian who believes his/her child has limitations that may affect his/her ability to participate in the manner, and with the level of supervision described above, should contact Nan Mayer at nmayer@lakelandcc.edu to arrange a time to discuss the need for, and availability of, reasonable accommodations for a specific camp.

Thomas W. Mastin Fund Scholarship

The intent of the Thomas W. Mastin Fund is to provide resources for the development, provision of, and access to, innovative programs in science, the environment and related subjects (math and English) that will create and encourage interest in the natural sciences and the environment by children and youth.
